Members of the Vestry of St. Paul's Church on the death of J. H. Harman.

The members of the Vestry of St. Paul's Church, Bloomsburg, Pa., at their regular meeting on Monday, March 2nd, 1885, having resolved to place on record an expression of the loss they have sustained in the death of J. H. Harman, one of their number, adopted the following:

We, the Rector, wardens and vestry men, of St. Paul's Church, Bloomsburg, in entering upon our records the death of J. H. Harman, one of our associates, desire to express the high regard in which we held him.

He served as a member of this church from 1874 to 1885, and again from 1881, up to the time of his decease, February 28th, 1885. At all times he manifested a careful interest in the affairs of the parish.

Fitted by a long and honorable experience in business, his judgment in the management of the temporalities of the church, was always valuable and judicious.

He was just man in all the relations of life, and we deeply regret his loss as a citizen, a friend, and a warm supporter of the church. He was an example to many, of faithful and devout attendance in the Lord's House, even when oppressed by bodily infirmity.

He gave liberally of his means to God's cause, and the poor. He bore, for years, with fortitude and patience, a murmur of complaint, with great affliction of the loss of his sight; and with equal resolution and courage, the intense suffering of his last days.

He has given his rest from days of adversity, and we pray, that He who doth not willingly afflict or grieve the afflicted, may bind up the wounds of the bereaved family and friends.
